of selling by short weight and short measure inspectors of the Health Department are keeping a close watch to see that customers are protected from being sold decayed and impure foodstuffs.

Col. Haskell's office has prosecuted three market men this week, and it is expected that other cases will be brought before the Police Court. Last week many condemnations resulted from the vigilance of the inspectors. Some of the articles condemned were 80 pounds of beef, 4 pounds of live, 37 cantaloupes, 43 watermelons, 20 pounds of dried fish, and a barrel and a quarter of pickles.

"A six-cylinder Silent Knight motor is something new on the motor car mar-ket, but I feel confident that it will prove as successful as has the four cylinder." said Clarence Barnard, of the Barnard Motor Car Company, local representa-tive of the Stoddard, yesterday. "There

The Cook & Stoddard Company has The Cook & Stoddard Company has recently received a report of a 7.000-mile trip made by a Cadiliac through the wilds of Australia. This is an innovation in motor car use in that country. Up to the present time owners of ears have contented themselves with driving their machines not farther than stricting distance of some of the well-populated cities. This trip, which was made by Coling B. King, consumed almost three months, and led through the wildest portion of the country.

tion of the country.

Local motorists feel confident that Judge Pugh's decision on the wheel tax case, upholding the regulation, will be defeated on the appeal which has been filed. All of the dealers, as well as owners of machines in the city, express the opinion that they are being unjustly dealt with as regards the taxation on automobiles. In addition to a personal tax, they must also pay a license fee, and with the imposition of a wheel tax, as it is commonly known, they will be taxed three times on the same machine. The point that is brought up by a number of the owners is, how will the tax be regulated if the car-changes hands two or three times during a season, as many of them do, being originally pischased by one man, who sells it when he desires another car, and in turn is disposed of by the second party.

CAMPERS THANK CHARITIES BOARD

Poor of City Find Great Relief at Resorts.

Officials of the summer outlings com-mittee of the Associated Charities are re-ceiving a deluge of letters and postal cards from mothers and children thank-ting the organisation for sending them to Camps Good Will and Pleasant for short

One of the characteristic missives reads:
"We send our love to you and thank you very much for sending us to Camp Good Will- We are having a good time. My Annie and Joseph send love."
The camps are veritable paradises for the poor mothers and children, who have never before been accustomed to such rest and luxury and cleanliness, and there are many pathetic scenes when the time for leaving to return to the tenement houses and the sordid toil of life occurs. Yesterday the mothers at Camp Good Will were taken for a ride to Soldiers' Home, while the children engaged in games and athletic contests. Many of the youngsters spent their time in the awimming pool. The camp closes on August 29, and the campers are trying to crowd all the pleasure they can into the few remaining

WHAT'S WHAT IN SHOES.

An inspection of the shoes for the coming fail and winter gives an excellent idea of what will be most worn by good dressers. Tans, which have been growing in favor for winter street wear, will be much in evidence, especially in the rich brown shades, not too dark in color. Gun Metal Calf and Velour Calf promise to divide honors as the most popular black leathers for street and business wear, while Patent Coit, particularly in button styles, will hold in favor for dress and Sunday wear. Incidentally it might be mentioned that button shees, in all leathers and for all occasions, are increasing in favor. This is especially true of shoes made with medium high round toes, medium high heels, and the short vamp effects which will be much worn by the younger set of smart dressers. Black Vici Kid will be considerably worn. In fact, this is becoming more and more an all-the-year-around leather. The blucher cut lace shoe will be a strong seller, more particularly in the heavy leathers and round toe shapes, this combination strongly suggesting the custom-made spoe. Patent coit, in button pattern, will continue to be the shoe for dress and Sunday wear.

For the well dressed men of more conservative tastes, the lace and blucher patterns in straight shape lasts, medium narrow toe, fairty high custom heel, and close-trimmed sole will lead.

We are indebted to the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company, 56 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, whose opening occurs August A, for an advance inspection of the fall and winter styles. An inspection of the shoes for the cor
